Value Equality

Our design team delivers multi-tiered value to our clients with work that succeeds creatively, economically, socially, and environmentally.

In Justice Design, we have found the most successful projects are those that achieve a harmonious equilibrium among these four components.

Design Passion

The Justice Design Studio has made an impact to public architecture at the state and national level - recognized by the AIA's Academy of Architecture for Justice in their annual Justice Facilities Review design awards.

Additionally, work from the Studio was featured in the National Center for State Court's Retrospective of Courthouse Design (2001-2010) with six projects included in the publication.

A wide-angle photograph of the Durham County Courthouse at dusk. The building is a multi-story structure with a mix of tan stone and green-tinted glass panels. A prominent vertical glass section on the left side of the main tower features a circular seal near the top. The building is illuminated from within, and the sky is a deep blue with some clouds. In the foreground, there's a paved plaza with some landscaping. To the right, a street with cars and other city buildings is visible.
